2026 STUDENT HALL OF FAME

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3

A CELEBRATION OF HIGH SCHOOL ACHIEVEMENT

HOSTED BY:

Living Sky School Division No. 202
Board of Education

Welcome to the 17th Annual Student Hall of Fame

The Living Sky School Division (LSKYSD) Board of Education recognizes high school student achievement at the annual Student Hall of Fame each year.

The LSKYSD Student Hall of Fame began in 2009 as a way to recognize high achieving students. It is the highest honour bestowed upon a student based on outstanding accomplishments in academics, arts and culture, athletics, community/school inspiration and special projects.

The honour of receiving a Student Hall of Fame award affords high school students an opportunity to leave a legacy at Living Sky School Division that will be recognized into the future. This year's inductees have distinguished themselves in the classroom, in student organizations, in athletics, and in their local community. We're proud of, and grateful for, their many contributions to the division, their schools and their communities.

AWARD CRITERIA:

- Academics – Overall average of 90% and above in specified subjects.
- Arts & Culture – Recognizes individuals or groups for excellence in artistic expression, cultural engagement, or achievement in regional/provincial competitions.
- Athletics – Provincial placement of gold, silver or bronze medal and/or receive the SHSAA Sportsmanship Award.
- Inspiration Award – Honours students who uplift others through positivity, leadership, and a commitment to kindness, resilience, and inspiring their school community.
- Special Projects – Recognizes students or groups who lead impactful, creative projects that positively influence their school or community through innovation and collaboration.
- SkyPlus Brilliance & Place-Based Projects – Celebrates outstanding student-led projects that demonstrate innovation, impact, and personal growth—whether through Place-Based community initiatives or Brilliance projects rooted in individual passions and skills.

Inspiration

• Emma is SRC Vice President and together with Kat, SRC President, they consistently uplift our school community through their positive energy, strong leadership, and commitment to making school engaging and inclusive. They not only bring forward creative ideas, but also actively listen to and incorporate the voices of other students. Their ability to keep activities fun while fostering a welcoming environment makes them true role models who inspire those around them every day. And they do this all while being strong students academically and participating in extra-curricular activities with the school and outside of the school.

Emma also made an impact this year in our athletics program, helping coach senior boys' basketball, officiating many basketball games, and supporting senior elementary basketball teams. Whenever help is needed in the gym, you can always count on Emma.

Guest Speaker – Jenna Smith

Jenna is a Saskatchewan-born mental health professional, former elite athlete, and passionate community advocate. Originally from Kindersley, she grew up across multiple communities in the province and began playing hockey at just three years old, going on to compete at the AAA level by age twelve.

She represented Team Saskatchewan at the Canadian Winter Games and later earned a full five-year athletic scholarship to the University of Calgary. During her university career, Jenna was named Canada West Rookie of the Year and helped lead her team to a National Championship. She also represented Team Canada at the FISU World University Games in Italy, where she won a gold medal.

Jenna went on to play professional hockey in Sweden with HV71 and Färjestad BK before retiring in 2018. She now lives in Red Pheasant Cree Nation and serves as the Mental Health Capacity Building Coordinator with Living Sky School Division. Prior to this, she spent eight years with the Saskatchewan Health Authority, including leadership roles in inpatient mental health and addictions treatment.

Currently pursuing her master's in clinical counselling through Athabasca University, Jenna is deeply committed to supporting youth and communities across northern Saskatchewan. Through sport and wellness programming, she has worked in over 18 communities, blending athletic development with mental health education to empower young people.

Jenna brings a unique perspective shaped by high-performance sport, frontline mental health work, and strong community connection, making her a compelling and relatable speaker on resilience, wellness, and youth empowerment.
